

João Torres is CEO of EDP Distribuição (6 million customers), since January 2006.

João Torres is leading portuguese DSO efforts to prepare the network for the future, launching the InovGrid Project which includes InovCity in Évora.

Very active in european forums, he is also member of EURELECTRIC DSO Directors' Gathering, founding member and director of the EDSO for Smart Grids Association and member of the Directing Committee of CIRED.

He is graduated in Electrical Engineering and holds a MBA degree in industrial management.