

Tom TINDALL, Director, IHS Energy Insight and Head of the IHS European Power service

Bio: Tom Tindall, IHS Director, is a Research Lead for the IHS European Power Advisory service. He is an energy economist specializing in regulatory, policy design and competition analysis in the power sector. His experience includes work for energy companies, policymakers and regulators on the implications of market and incentive design. He recently led work on market design for the IHS Multi-client Study, Keeping Europe's Lights On: Design and impact of capacity mechanisms. Prior to joining IHS, Mr. Tindall was with UK-based economic consultancy Oxera, providing advice on capacity mechanisms, low-carbon incentive design, retail market intervention and transmission policy. Mr. Tindall holds a Masters in Engineering from the University of Oxford and an MSc from the London School of Economics.